EIGHT BRIDESMAIDS NAMED

Preparations Begun for the Vanderbilt-Marlborough Nuptials.

Invitations Will Be Issued Very Soon for the Ceremony at St. Thomas Church.

New York, Oct. 5.—Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt will occupy her new home on Madison avenue and Seventy-second street about November 1. Painters and decorators are now busily at work and the house is also being exquisitely furnished. As soon as Mrs. Vanderbilt gets settled the invitations will be sent out for the wedding of her daughter, Miss Consuelo, and the Duke of Marlborough.

It is expected that the wedding will take place on November 20 in St. Thomas Church. The selection of that church will occasion surprise. The edifice does not compare to either Grace or Trinity for a wedding. It lacks room and nothing can brighten it. Flowers seen only to emphasize its dullness. There will, of course, be cards for the church, and all that is possible in the line of floral decorations will be attempted.

At the wedding, Miss Vanderbilt should, of course, walk down the aisle leaning on the arm of her father. Whether or not she does so remains to be seen.

So far eight of the bridesmaids have been selected. There will be three others. These will lead the way to the altar. Misses Evelyn Burden and Marie Winthrop, who are each 25, and much older than the others, being first. The other bridesmaids selected are Miss Daisy Post, Miss Eliza Brown, Miss Evelyn Jay, Miss Katherine Dyer, Miss May Goelet and Miss Oelrichs.

As far as the present arrangements have gone, it is Mrs. Vanderbilt's intention to give the reception after the church ceremony at her own home. Next door to her live Colonel and Mrs. Jay. A temporary structure will be erected over the yards of both houses, uniting them for this occasion.

The first wedding ceremony performed at St. Patrick's Church after its magnificent renovation was that of Miss Maggie H. Columbus, of this city, and Mr. William J. Fitter, who were married quietly on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Miss Corinne Williams, the pathfinder of the Capitoline Cycle Club, invited its members yesterday to join her in a particularly pleasant spin. The programme included dinner at Cabin John Bridge, a two-hour hunt through the woods for autumn leaves and in the evening an impromptu dance at the home of Miss Williams, on Capitol Hill. The six members of the club are Miss Corinne Williams, Miss Birdie Bates, Miss Maud Merrill, Miss Kate Spicer and Misses Ella and Elizabeth Waite.

The party was chaperoned by Mrs. Bestor, of Baltimore, and generally cared for by Mr. Frank Law Bates.

Mrs. M. M. Harris, of Twelfth street, will chaperone a number of young people to the Atlanta Exposition on the 17th of this month. In addition to Miss Clara Mills, of Philadelphia, and Miss Katherine Stevens, of Reading, the party will include Miss Augusta Hill, Miss Julia and Mary Rogers, Miss Nellie Stevens, and Messrs. Andrew Rogers, Roy Stevens and Morris and Arthur Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Stevens and their son, Arthur, of Jacksonville, Fla., are the guests of Mr. Warren Young, of No. 1916 I street northwest. Mrs. Stevens was formerly well known in Washington society as Miss Clara Judd.

The approaching marriage is announced of Mr. Merritt O. Chance, of this city, and Miss Catherine Fitzgerald, of Mount Vernon, Ill. The wedding will take place at the bride's home on Tuesday, the 15th, and the young couple will be at home after November 14, at No. 217 Eleventh street northwest, where they will be pleased to receive their friends.

Mrs. Helen Spencer, of Philadelphia, is the guest of Col. J. P. Jewell and wife, of Capitol Hill.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Edna Reed to Mr. Malvern H. Price. The ceremony will take place at Calvary Baptist Church, October 17, at 10 o'clock a. m.

Mrs. I. M. Bittenger and her son are expected home in a few days from their summer trip abroad.

Mr. Nicholas J. Plass and Miss Catherine M. Fitzgerald were married on Wednesday evening in the presence of many friends. The bride was daintily veiled in white and carried a Marchal Niel bouquet. Miss Mary C. Fitzgerald was bridesmaid and Mr. John Wick best man. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple went to the bride's home, where a large reception was held. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Adams, Mrs. J. Fitzgerald, Mr. A. and the Misses Gant, Miss Corman, of Philadelphia; Mrs. and Miss La Rible, Mrs. C. B. Barwick, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Ball, Mrs. Arnold, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Sullivan, Mrs. C. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. M. Byrk, A. Casey, D. and K. Murphy, N. Fitzgerald, S. Gavin, Dr. A. P. Fardon, L. A. Coombs, William Keenan, A. S. Dent, K. Chaffy, of Philadelphia; C. Kidwell, P. F. Hannall, T. Noonan, J. J. McMahon, Sergt. John Daly and Mullooney, Miller and Bantz.

There was a pretty home wedding at the residence of Mrs. Harriet Kendall, of O street, last night, the contracting parties being her daughter, Ruth Elizabeth, and Mr. Fawcett Kane, of New York.

The bride was prettily veiled in cream chiffon and carried heart's blood roses. Owing to a death in the groom's family the ceremony was witnessed by only the immediate friends of the bride, among them being Col. and Mrs. Richmond, of Denver, Col.; Miss Rachel Armstrong, Miss Nettie Tyler, Mr. John Armstrong and Messrs. John Davidson, Donald Frazer and Paul J. McCook.

Capt. Cook, U. S. N., and family are at the Richmond for the winter.

Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Mary Virginia Swan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Swan, of A. S. Dent, Dorsey at Gunton Temple Memorial Church Wednesday evening, October 9, at 8 o'clock.

Col. and Mrs. William Gorman Rice have moved their home in Albany, N. Y., and will occupy the Russell House on K street for the winter.

The Japanese minister, Mr. Kurino, is in New York.

noe, as her home, and with Mrs. Sartoris and her family will be established there.

The marriage of Miss Irene Langhorn to Mr. C. Dana Gibson, the artist, will take place at Richmond, November 7.

The wedding of Mr. Merritt O. Chance, of the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General's office, to Miss Catherine Fitzgerald, of Mount Vernon, Ill., will occur Tuesday, October 15, at the home of the bride.

Mr. A. G. Heaton, the artist, entertained a small company at lunch yesterday afternoon, to meet Mr. Edwin Hoff and wife, and Miss Findlayson, of Miss Russell's company.

After lunch the guests were invited into the artist's studio, where coffee and cigars were dispensed and a very pleasant afternoon was spent with music and in reviewing the studies made by the artist during his stay in the mountains this summer.

Hopkins; Frederick district, Mrs. Maggie Addison; Washington district, Mrs. D. B. Street.

The next meeting of the society will be held in October, 1896, at Hamilton M. E. Church, this city.

Advice to a Bridegroom.

If a bride has $40 of her own left after buying her wedding clothes, her husband should never so far forget himself as to ask to borrow it. Under the spell of the honeymoon, she will lend it. After the wane of the honeymoon, he will either refuse or will not be able to pay it back. The $40 will increase to $400 in her eyes in six years, and he will hear more of it than if he owed it to his own kin.—Arlington Globe.

Used to Chicago River.

Miss Dabbert—I thought you told me you could swim?

Caddy Fopley—I can't, I assure you, in some places, but the water is so deucedly thin here, don't you know, that it won't hold me up.—Boston Courier.

A Garter Incident.

Her eyes grew strangely wild. She stopped there on the street, with swift dexterity she snatched something from her feet.

I saw a jewel flash. A worn ribbon bright. She blushed, and in the throng Was quickly lost to sight.—Minneapolis Journal.
